Girls bring laurel to the college with their innovative ideas in oncology

Three girls from Second Year MBBS (2016 batch) were among the 25 applicants selected on the basis of their respective project abstracts called for by the AIIMS-Bhopal faculty in order to participate in the Third International Winter School Oncology (IWSO) held in Feb,2018.

Ms. Pragya Purohit was awarded the First Prize by the jury for her hypothesis “Monitoring efficacy of Neo-adjuvant therapy chemotherapy given to a female of locally advanced breast cancer” while Ms. Mridula Gupta was awarded the Third Prize for her innovative idea on “Breast thermography using smartphone thermal imaging”.

Both the girls were later felicitated for their performance by the District Collector as well on the occasion of International Women’s Day celebration held in Jhalawar.
